By Radio.com Staff

Summer unofficially comes to a close this weekend (bye, bye "Fancy" 5.0 long "Side") and we've released this fall.

There will of course be records from our favorite acts, but as the leaves begin to change, here are five new ones just starting out.

As the world gears up for the biggest night in music to officially begin, the ladies of Radio.com — Courtney C. Smith, Jillian Maples, Annie Reeder and Shannon Carlin—got together to chat about the best, worst and wackiest fashion that the 56th Annual GRAMMY Awards had to offer.

Because, let's be honest, it doesn't matter if you win or lose, it's about how well you played the fashion game.

The Song: Blake Shelton's 'Mine Be You'

So, grab a pumpkin...

1. Tinashe

What we know: Tinashe was a teen sensation who acted alongside Half Man and toured with Justin Bieber as a member of the girl group. 17 years old, she's done with the acting and the bubblegum pop and working best-driven R&B that would surely make Aaliyah proud.

Why we're excited: Her first single, "2 On," featuring Schoolboy Q, is a brazen production by DJ Mustard that has her making it clear she likes to have a little fun. Followed up that track — currently No. 27 on the Billboard Hot 100 — with the witty, assisted ballad "Pretend" that proves this girl can really sing. We're just annoyed that it's a whole month to hear the rest of the album. — Shannon Carlin

Tinashe's debut album, Aquarius, drops October 7 on RCA.
